

SAFE BLOWN.

Successful and Sensational Robbery at Cleveland, O.

Masked Men Overpower and Bind the Night Watchman of a Brewery.

The Robbers Secure $5,000 and a Collection of Rare Coins Valued at $1,500—After Looting the Safe They Take Everything of Value in the Office.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 12.—The most sensational and successful robbery that has occurred in this city for years was perpetrated at the works of the Star Brewing Company early Wednesday morning. Nightwatchman Louis Christiansen, was making his routine inspection of the building, when five masked men sprang out of the darkness. A fierce struggle ensued and weapons of all kinds were brought into use. The robbers were heavily armed, but refrained from using their guns in order to avoid noise. The watchman was finally overcome, bound and gagged and tied to a steam pipe. The robbers then broke open the office door and wrapped the safe with wet blankets. The combination handle was broken off and the safe blown to pieces with dynamite. After looting the safe of its contents and taking everything of value in the office the robbers departed. The helpless watchman managed to free himself after repeated struggles, and gave the alarm.

Officers quickly arrived and made a thorough investigation. The robbers left no clue behind them, but it is the opinion of the police that the crime was the work of professional safe blowers. The robbers secured $5,000 in money and carried away a collection of rare coins belonging to C. A. Strangman valued at $1,500. The robbery occurred in a densely populated, wealthy residence part of the city. Watchman Christiansen sustained three severe wounds as the result of his struggle with the men.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of Gen. Miles to the Secretary of War—Recommendations for Increase of the Army.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—In transmitting to the secretary of war the annual reports of the department commanders in connection with his own reports upon the military operations of the past year, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the army, takes occasion to commend the discipline and personnel of the army.

Regarding the distribution of the army at important fortifications along the 6,000 miles of seacoast and at certain points along the 7,000 miles of national boundary, which is necessary to give security against a foreign foe and protection from Indians, Gen. Miles earnestly recommends that no consideration for the location of military posts be entertained, except when they are called for by the military authorities and deemed absolutely essential for the national requirements.

Gen. Miles recommends that the enlisted strength of the army be fixed at one soldier to every 2,000 of population as a minimum, the maximum not to exceed one soldier for every 1,000 of population. "The strength to be determined by the president of the United States according to the necessities and requirements of the nation."

He renews his previous recommendation that at least two stations west of the Rocky mountains and one east be established for the accommodation of one regiment of cavalry each; also the recommendations concerning the use of bicycles and motor wagons and the promotion of enlisted men who shall be found competent after thorough examination to the grade of second lieutenant after five years' service.

Referring to coast defenses, Gen. Miles renews his recommendations of last year for liberal appropriations for high power guns, mortars and other artillery necessities, and urges sufficient appropriations for the work of ordnance, engineer and quartermaster's departments be made available during the coming year. Among items recommended are:

San Diego, Cal., $900,025; San Francisco, $903,850; mouth of the Columbia river, Oregon, $500,325; Puget Sound, $764,050.

KING OSCAR

Will Likely Be One of the Venezuela Arbitration Board.

It is Taken for Granted That Chief Justice Fuller Will Be Another.

Frederick, Countess Spoken of as the Third—A Petty Trick—Our President Foretold in the Announcement of His Splendid Diplomatic Triumph.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—There remain but few details to be settled in the matter of the Venezuelan arbitration, and these details are now being arranged between Secretary Olney and Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador. It is generally conceded that King Oscar of Norway and Sweden will be the fifth arbitrator, though it is intimated that in case he should decline, the president of the sister republic will ultimately be selected. This is really a matter of detail.

It is taken for granted that Chief Justice Fuller will be one of the American arbitrators, and it is not impossible that Mr. Frederick Countess may be the other. Mr. Countess, being a member of the Venezuelan commission, is eminently equipped with all information, and would therefore be a valuable representative of this government.

There is a rumor Thursday that the British foreign office has been guilty of a petty trick, designed to deprive the president of the personal triumph of announcing in his forthcoming message to congress that American diplomacy and determination had triumphed over Great Britain. The publication in advance of the signature of any portion of the proposed Venezuelan protocol was a glaring breach of the diplomatic usages that are recognized between all governments. It is known, of course, that neither Secretary Olney nor Sir Julian Pauncefote had given out this information. Inquiry by the diplomats representing other governments finally revealed the fact that certain details of the treaty, embodying its most important features, had been given out by the British foreign office to be cabled to Washington and printed here in order to forestall President Cleveland.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The St. James Gazette Thursday afternoon publishes a leading article, headed "An Historic Moment," in the course of which it says: "Lord Salisbury's great admission of the principle that the United States have the right to intervene in frontier disputes of the American powers and to compel the disputants to arbitrate, altogether transcends in importance the question of the Guiana boundary. It is a formal recognition of the hegemony of the United States on the American continent and gives the president's position in the new world which the medieval popes and emperors tried vainly to claim in Europe."

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The foreign office has communicated official information to the United Associated Presses that there are still many details of the Venezuelan agreement to be arranged. Before these are completed and the basis of the agreement be comes an official record signed by Sir Julian Pauncefote, British Ambassador at Washington, and Hon. Richard Olney, United States secretary of state, the foreign office insists that no communications on the subject from here are possible. Sir Julian Pauncefote is the only medium, taking his instructions directly from Lord Salisbury, who now considers the matter concluded, excepting the verbal form of the convention, which must be based upon an exchange of documents. Besides Sir Richard Webster, attorney general, Lord Davey, lord of appeal in ordinary, is mentioned in legal circles as likely to be assigned to the conduct of the British case before the arbitration commission.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 12.—The board of control of the state penitentiary has leased 7,500 acres of Delta farm land on which it will raise cotton next year as it did this, with convict labor. FARMERS' CONGRESS.

A Memorial to Congress Adopted—Gen. Harrison Delivers an Address.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 12.—The third day's session of the Farmers' National congress had two important features. One was an address by Gen. Harrison, and the other was the adoption of a memorial to congress.

Gen. Harrison was in a happy mood, and, when he arose to speak, he was greeted enthusiastically.

After the memorial to congress was read C. M. Hogg, of Ohio, moved that the paragraph asking that the duty upon wool, as prayed for by the National Wool Growers' association, one year ago, and embodied in the memorial, be stricken out and also that the time of holding imported wool in bond be extended 90 days.

The motion brought a wrathful reply from Judge Lawrence, of Ohio, who charged that Mr. Hogg's interests were with the manufacturers rather than with the wool growers. He charged that the Dingley bill discriminated in favor of the manufacturer and against the wool grower. Mr. Hogg, in reply, said that 95 per cent. of the manufacturers were in sympathy with the American wool growers, and that the discrimination against American wools is because of the faulty condition in which they are put upon the market.

The memorial asks congress to see to it that no trusts are organized that can extort exorbitant prices for farm products, favors the protective tariff policy and asks, regarding wool, these changes in the Dingley bill:

That the "skirting clause," of the act of 1890, shall not be applicable to the bill.

That the pledge therein that it shall continue in operation "Until August 1, 1898" shall be struck out.

That the duties on woolen rags, shoddy, mungo, flocks, nocks, waste and other adulterations shall be made prohibitory.

That wool and woolen manufactures imported under its provisions shall not remain in bonded warehouses more than ten days.

MONROE DOCTRINE.

England Not Ready to Recognize it as International Law.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Globe, commenting upon the Venezuelan arbitration treaty, says it welcomes the agreement because it releases the United States from a false and dangerous position. If the commission had reported adversely to Great Britain, the paper adds, President Cleveland would have been forced to attempt to coerce Great Britain to ent humble pie, with the result that if the Washington government had seen fit to enter the unequal contest with England the developments of the United States would have been retarded for half a century. The Globe also says: "It must be clearly understood that the constitution of the new arbitration tribunal is not to establish a precedent for arranging all further disputes between the United States and the United Kingdom in North and South America, nor are we ready to recognize Monroism as international law."

One Burglar Dead, the Other Wounded.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Two burglars were discovered robbing the general store of W. A. Hundemark, in the little village of Elba, Thursday morning, and were called upon by a posse of citizens to surrender. The burglars made a dash for liberty and the besieging party fired on them. The robbers returned the fire and a dozen or more shots were exchanged. When the fusillade was over, one of the robbers lay dead and the other seriously wounded. The wounded man was brought to Batavia and lodged in jail. He gave the name of George Stevens, but further than this would say nothing regarding himself or companion.

Seventeen Manufacturing Concerns About Ready to Resume Business.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 12.—Seventeen important manufacturing concerns here Wednesday gave evidence of the prosperity resulting from the election, by either starting up or giving notice of intention to immediately put more men to work. The Britton Rolling Mill Co., whose works have been lying idle for a year, set a force of men at work Wednesday oiling the machinery preparatory to starting the mill with 100 men next week. The United Salt Co.'s works has set business going with a force of 294 men working on full time. The American Wire Co., one of the largest concerns of its kind in the United States, started up full blast Wednesday. A double turn is run night and day. Twelve hundred men are now working and more hands are wanted. The Hoffman Bicycle Co. is again running. TORRENS LAW.

Why Judge Ferris Thinks It is Constitutional.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 12.—Probate Judge Ferris, who, under the Torrens system as enacted for Ohio, will be called to exercise broader judicial duties, has given the bill exhaustive study. He said Wednesday:

"The Ohio bill is constitutional. That of Illinois was not, and I am not surprised to know it was so held. The difference in favor of our act is this: the constitutions of both states are identical in that judicial powers are vested in only the courts. The Illinois bill conferred judicial power on the county recorder, who was called to pass on titles, claims, etc. Under the Ohio bill the recorder only receives applications. The common pleas and probate courts pass on the claims judicially. That is the case in a nutshell."

THE SMALLPOX

Case at Ironton Has Its Origin From an Old Coat Taken From a Pest House.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 12.—Secretary Probst, of the state board of health, returned Wednesday from Ironton, where he has been investigating a case of smallpox. He thinks that the disease had its origin there in an old coat taken from the pest house. The coat was found along the railroad track near the pest house by a pedestrian, who took it home, and it is supposed to have communicated the disease to a neighbor, although he did not become infected himself.

No one knows how the coat got from the pesthouse to the railroad track, but there seems to be no doubt that it was worn by a previous inmate of the pest house. It has been six years since anyone was in the pesthouse.

CHIEF HAZEN.

Of the Secret Service, Makes His Annual Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The annual report of W. P. Hazen, chief of the secret service, states that the counterfeiting of paper money has materially decreased during the past year. This can in part be accounted for by the large increase in "raised" or "altered" notes found in circulation, some of which are most skillfully executed. He attributes the facility with which the public are deceived by raised notes to the frequent changes in the designs of the United States notes, which makes it almost impossible for the public to become familiar with the currency. It is also made plain, he adds, that the distinctive paper in use is an aid to the criminal rather than a protection to the public, because of the fact that a note printed upon paper containing silk threads (as a number of the best of the counterfeits and all the raised notes are) is accepted in a majority of instances without hesitation, owing to the erroneous impression that the paper used by the government is manufactured by a secret process and can not be counterfeited. He has also become convinced that the introduction of silk into the paper tends to lessen its wearing qualities and is, therefore, responsible to a degree for its short life.

The counterfeiting of gold and silver coins has been on the increase in all parts of the country. Some counterfeiters of silver coins have appeared on the Pacific coast that are quite as good as the genuine, both in weight and fineness, and made from dies of excellent workmanship.
